May 28th, 1753. [NUMB. 989.]

LONDON, February 8.

TUESDAY was held a board of admiralty, when the Pembroke man of war of 60 guns, was put into commission, and the command given to Capt. Hodgson.

We hear that it is proposed to send all soldiers to Nova-Scotia who shall desert from their corps, and be found guilty thereof by a court martial.

Last Sunday at the collection for building the new tabernacle for the rev. Mr. Whitefield, in the morning at seven o'clock, was gathered 51 l. and in the evening 127 l. in all 178 l.

Feb. 10. From Leghorn we are told, that the chiefs of the Corsicans, in a general assembly, have resolved to unite and oppose foreign intruders.

Feb. 14. We learn from Lisbon that two English shipbuilders have agreed to build the king of Portugal ten ships of the line, and eight frigates of a new invention, and to finish them in two years; in which they are to be assisted by several able hands of their own country.

We hear from Leghorn, that the Corsicans pretend to be able to bring 20 battalions into the field of 600 men each; and that they have magazines to support them during a campaign of five months. All they aim at is liberty.

We hear that Sir George Vandeput, Bart. is to succeed Col. Cornwallis as governor of Nova-Scotia.

Yesterday there was the greatest number of members in the hon. house of commons as has been this session, being near 400.

Feb. 17. Yesterday a courier extraordinary arrived from the North with dispatches of great importance.

On Thursday night there was a great cockpit, which sat till two o'clock yesterday morning. Most of the great officers of state were there.

Col. Hacket's regiment, now in Ireland, is to embark early this spring for Nova-Scotia, to reinforce the troops there.

According to some private letters from Vienna, there is but little reason to build upon the pacific declarations made by the Porte from time to time, it having been lately discovered that those declarations mean no more, than that the Grand Signior will molest none of his Christian neighbours if they don't quarrel with his Christian allies.

Feb. 20. Yesterday an express arrived in Town, which brought an account of the death of the eldest son of the Chevalier de St. George who made the descent into Scotland in the year 1745.

According to advices from Hamburg, the Hanoverian troops will certainly encamp early in the spring, and be joined by a great body of forces belonging to other princes of the Empire.

Some private letters from Berlin say, we shall see odd scenes next summer, the chief subjects of which may be Silesia and East-Friseland: And as the power of Russia is to be dreaded, endeavours are used to put the Turks in motion, in order to keep the court of Petersburgh in awe; though as yet nothing more is pretended than a design to settle the affairs of Persia, and quell some tumultuous Tartars in the neighbourhood of Ozakow.

Feb. 22. Last night there was a cabinet council held at the Cockpit, and within these few days there have been four, which have sat very late on affairs of great importance.

We hear that 47,000 l. will be granted for the support of the colony of Nova-Scotia for the year 1753.

We hear that an affair of very great importance will soon be laid before a right hon. house.

Tuesday was held a board of admiralty, when their lordships gave orders for the continuing of the artificers, shipwrights and labourers, in his majesty's yard, and none to be discharged till notice be given from that board.

London, March 10. We hear that proper regulations will be made this session, for the better cultivation and improvement of the island of Jamaica, and a sum granted for repairing and augmenting its fortifications.

The king of Prussia has received by a courier from London, the answer of the British court to the expositions of the motives, &c. but his majesty's sentiments on the subject of of this answer are not known. Thus far we are informed, that his majesty on the receipt of it immediately retired, and read it with great attention; and the high chancellor Cocceji, had the same evening a long conference with him in his closet, and that a courier had been dispatched to Vienna. The officers who were recruiting, are ordered to rejoin their corps in fifteen days at farthest.

We hear that there will be a scheme proposed, not unlike that in Spain, to send all the idle and vagrant young people to Nova Scotia, &c. to be brought up in husbandry and industry.

Last wednesday an extraordinary courier arrived at St. James's, from the court of Berlin.

We hear that a council was summoned to attend last night in the council chamber on those dispatches, which are said to be of the utmost importance.

It is reported that all the regiments of foot, as well on the English as the Irish establishment, will be speedily augmented.
